INTER-CLASS DEBATES ARE DECIDED UPON

First Meeting to Take Place Next Monday Night at Eight O'Clock.

TWO SUBJECTS CHOSEN

First and Second Years in Law and Arts Respectively Are to Clash.

At the meeting of the executive of the Lit. held at Strathcona Hall last evening, the arrangements for holding inter-class debates were finally completed. It was decided that the first meeting should take place next Monday night, at 8 o'clock. Two debates are scheduled for the opening session, and in order to save time they will be held in separate rooms. After the close of the formal debate, the meeting will be thrown open for a general discussion by those present.

A subject which should prove of considerable interest is that assigned for the debate between the first and second years in Law. This reads as follows: "Resolved, that women should be admitted to the practice of law in the Province of Quebec." In view of the Langstaff case, it will be interesting to the discussion arising out of the recent hearing of the opinions of our embryo lawyers on a question of considerable importance to their future profession.

The other debate will be between representatives of the Arts freshmen and sophomores, who will clash over the question of early closing. Arrangements have been made to hold two debates every Monday evening, as this night appeared to be the most suitable to every one concerned. The debates will be held each week until the beginning of December, when they will be discontinued until the 17th of January to prevent any interference with the examinations. Judges will be chosen from among the members of the various faculties, and will give their decision and also a short criticism of the speakers, which should prove most helpful to the students participating.

Each class will meet every other class, and it is not necessary that the same team should represent their class in each debate. On the contrary, the wish of the executive is that the teams be changed as much as possible, in order to give all interested a chance to profit by the experience.

The meetings will be quite informal in character, and no one need feel any qualms about making his debut as a public speaker, since the majority of those taking part will have had very little previous experience. The programme this year has been drawn up not with the idea of affording a few brilliant orators a chance to dazzle less-gifted class-mates, but rather to provide an opportunity for new men to learn to express themselves.

The announcement of the system of inter-faculty debates and the request for entries has met with a very encouraging response from the different classes, and ten or twelve teams will take part in the schedule. The classes and subjects for the next debate will be announced before the end of the week.

The annual canvass of the University in behalf of the McGill Y.M.C.A. will be launched this evening with a dinner to be attended by the class captains and workers. This dinner will be held in Strathcona Hall at six o'clock. W. H. Goodwin, managing director of Goodwin's, Ltd., will be the chief speaker of the evening. He will deliver a ten-minute talk on the relations between the Universities and the Y.M.C.A. Arthur S. Lamb, president of the Students' Council, and W. S. Sutherland, president of the Science Undergraduate Society and treasurer of the Y.M.C.A. will also give short addresses, the latter touching upon the state of the finances of the Association and the mechanism of the canvass.

The teams will be composed as follows:

NEW SIR CHARLES TUPPER MCGILL GRAD.

Successor to Late Sir Chas. Tupper's Baronetcy is a Graduate of Arts '05.

It may not be commonly known that McGill can claim as one of her sons the new Sir Charles Stewart Tupper. Sir Charles Stewart Tupper is the eldest son of James Stewart Tupper who was the eldest son of the late Sir Charles. He was born in 1885, and graduated in Arts from McGill, in 1905.

As his father before him he studied law and being admitted to the practice of law before the Manitoba Bar, became a member of the firm of lawyers, Tupper, Tupper, McTavish and Co., in Winnipeg. At present he is training for the front, having recently obtained a commission in the 79th Cameron Highlanders.

The new Lady Tupper was Miss Margaret Peters Morse, the only daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Morse of Ottawa. Her father was a second cousin of the late Sir Charles Tupper's wife.

Y. W. C. A.

At 3 o'clock on Wednesday, November 3, in the common room, Mr. J. S. Woodsworth will address the Y. W. C. A. on "Community Problems." It is hoped that there will be a large attendance.

DINNER FOR WORKERS IN "Y" CANVASS

The Annual Dinner of the Residents of Strathcona Hall Held Last Night.

GOOD PROGRAMME

Hall Nicely Decorated and the Whole Affair Declared to Excell Last Year's.

Last evening the second annual banquet of the residents of Strathcona Hall was held in the reading room, which was very prettily decorated for Halloween, and the tables themselves showed splendid taste in the way of decorations. Last year was the start of the residents' banquet, and while it was a great success, last evening's completely eclipsed it.

At 6.30 the seventy residents seated themselves to the sumptuous repast provided. Under the able chairmanship of W. H. Miller, the committee consisting of Messrs. Nichols, Church, Gibbs, Bone, Armour, Beckwith and Clough, labored very energetically, and are deserving of great credit. It was entirely due to the efforts of these men that the banquet proved such a success.

After the inner man had been sufficiently satisfied, W. H. Miller opened the toast list by proposing "The King." The hall orchestra, composed of the famous Charlie Gibbs and his cohorts, rendered many pleasing numbers throughout the evening. The hearty response of those present called for an encore on every occasion.

"Gentlemen and students of McGill," were the words which Gordon Pitts used in opening his toast to Alma Mater. This was the way in which, according to Mr. Pitts, Sir William had commenced, and hence he considered it to be the proper way.

G. Pitts divided people into three classes—parents, students and the world. The parents, he said, looked upon McGill as a place to send their off-spring where they were to become fully equipped for their life's work. This was a mistaken idea, in his opinion. Of the students, he said that the freshmen look on everything at college with awe. The sophs are seized with a sense of proprietorship, while the juniors and seniors have the idea of a degree foremost.

The world bases the recommendation of students on application, efficiency and capacity for work. When a student leaves college he has his own name to make, and if he makes good, he thereby ennoble the name of McGill. The speaker reviewed the history of the undergraduate societies, the papers, and spoke of the dormitories. Regarding the latter, he argued that they were most essential to student life and college spirit.

In closing, Mr. Pitts said there was no more patriotic body of people than the students when appealed to in the proper way.

Dr. Tees responded to this toast. He related how a man, having gone to a phrenologist, was told he had a bump of curiosity. This, the man said, was true, since he had just put his head into a dumb-waiter to see if it were going up, but instead it was going down. Dr. Tees said he, too, had a bump, not of curiosity, but of optimism. He then related many amusing stories of college life, which went to show that the students of these times were not without their pranks.

OPEN MEETING OF STUDENTS' COUNCIL

The Rating of the Medical Students Was Discussed at Some Length.

The first open meeting of the Students' Council was held last evening. When the meeting was thrown open for visitors no one appeared. Eric Cushing reported that the Daily of today's date had been forwarded to all units in which McGill men were located as far as was known. This will be continued weekly.

The rating of medical students was discussed and in view of the fact that confusion has always existed in rating them for athletic purposes, it was decided that a letter be sent to the president of the Medical Undergraduate Society recommending for their consideration that medical students receive similar rating to other faculties.

In reply to a letter from the chairman of the Committee on Morals and Discipline regarding the damage to University property by the freshmen and sophomores on October 22nd, it was decided to write stating that the Council in no way recognized the principle of an annual freshman-sophomore "Scrap" and that the Council regrets very much that damage was done to University property, also that the Council promised to use its influence to prevent a recurrence of such incidents. In regard to the damage done the Council felt that the responsible parties would readily meet the assessment.

The Need for Residences

One matter which was brought up at the annual meeting of the Students' Society held recently did not meet with the attention which would appear to have been its due. The Daily refers to the need for student residences which becomes more and more pressing as session succeeds session. The matter was productive of scarcely any discussion at all and although a resolution was passed declaring that residences were an essential to life at this University, this will doubtless be pigeon-holed with other papers of a similar nature and nothing further be done in the matter.

It seems peculiar in the light of later developments that two years ago the annual report of the Governors, Principal and Fellows of the University urged the necessity of residences before the consideration of a gymnasium or a new Stadium. "The unattractive character of residential accommodation in Montreal," said the report, "has been for long a great drawback to the comfort and convenience of the student body and a great impairment in their social and academic well-being." Yet, what has been done? True, the splendid gift of Dr. James Douglas as a nucleus to provide for residences is something, but surely there is some means by which the construction of these buildings may be accomplished in a shorter space of time.

Proper sleeping and dining accommodation is at the root of healthy life and must needs come first when the welfare of the student body is concerned. The present system of promiscuous billeting of out-of-town students at scattered points in the neighborhood of the University is as damaging to the esprit de corps of the undergraduate body as it is to its health and pocketbook. In place of the college spirit which is evident at Universities which are the fortunate possessors of residences, there is seen at McGill a student interest in student affairs which is steadily on the wane and which if allowed to continue spells disaster to those affairs.

It must be admitted that but scant preparation is made for the reception of out-of-town students at the University in the matter of residential accommodation. Strathcona Hall and the Wesleyan College are spacious enough to accommodate but a small proportion of the student body, while the different Fraternities attend to perhaps seventy all told. The remaining undergraduates, by far the greater proportion, find themselves scattered in lodging-houses which in the majority of cases have very little to offer in the way of attraction. In search of the latter the student, especially the newcomer, is often driven to resorts of questionable standing and is thus brought into contact with influences which certainly do him no good. There seems to be nothing to counteract the lure of the large cosmopolitan centre, while the temptation to shirk class-work due to this state of affairs results in many a "Christmas graduate."

More facilities are provided at McGill in the matter of board, but there is no doubt that the system could be improved. Those students who do not board at the Union and at the Fraternities (and these are comparatively few in number) must needs look elsewhere for accommodation and a census would show that nearly every neighboring lunch counter and restaurant has its share of them.

Surely this is not the state of affairs which should prevail. The remedy undoubtedly lies in an efficient system of residences, having dining facilities in connection. If the students could only be led to understand the benefits which would result from the establishment of the residence system, if they could be made to take an interest in the conduct of their own affairs and in their welfare, there would be hope of the matter being pushed. Until then, however, the Daily feels confident it will be allowed to rest.

Editorial Notes

What the Y.M.C.A. does for the student is perhaps not adequately realized by those who directly benefit by it. Undergraduates will have a chance to contribute towards its support and maintenance in the canvass which will commence to-morrow.

The thirty odd undergraduates who have been suspended from participation in college athletics through neglect to observe the medical examination regulation, have only themselves to blame. The matter has been given prominence in the columns of the McGill Daily ever since the session opened and those students affected have certainly no complaint to make because of the absence of publicity, neglecting altogether the fact that University publications make proper mention of the regulation. Take the consequences.

THE YEAR PINS OF MEDICAL FACULTY

Certain Formalities to be Fulfilled Before Students Can Secure These Pins

Final arrangements have now been completed re the Medical Faculty pins, and they are now procurable at Henry Birks & Sons, Ltd.

By resolution of the Medical Society, the following rules govern the sale of these pins:

1. The sale of the pin to be under the direction and control of the McGill Medical Society.
2. The pin to be sold only to the students of the three senior years in medicine and to graduates of the McGill Medical Society.
3. Only one pin to be sold to each student or graduate. Authority to purchase said pin to be on an order from the secretary of the McGill Medical Society, countersigned by the president. Such order to be given on presentation of registration card or other satisfactory evidence of academic standing.
4. In the event of a pin purchased being lost, by a student or graduate, application for authority to purchase another pin may be made to the executive of the Medical Society who may grant or refuse said request at their discretion.

Pin requisitions may be obtained from E. B. Carter, Med. '18, room 304, 756 University street.

ADDRESSES TO R.V.C. BY DR. WOODSWORTH

A Series of Addresses on Community Problems to be Delivered to R.V.C. Students. . .

At the opening meeting of the Young Women's Christian Association, to be held in the common room of the Royal Victoria College to-morrow, Wednesday, November 3, at 3 p.m., the first of a course of interesting lectures on "Community Problems" will be given by Mr. Woodsworth, of Winnipeg, secretary of the Canadian Welfare League. Already Mr. Woodsworth is well known in Montreal, an expert on the practical as well as the theoretical side of social problems.

The subject of "Community Problems" is one which is of increasing interest to every student, touching as it does the growth and development of our country. In the rush of present-day affairs too little serious consideration is given to this topic, which should be of vital importance to us all. When the privilege is ours to hear Mr. Woodsworth deal with this subject in his masterly way, it is urged that full advantage be taken of the opportunity, and that every student make an effort to be present at all the meetings held on the four Wednesdays in November.

R.V.C. '17

A meeting of R. V. C. '17 was held yesterday at one o'clock in the common room, with the president, Miss Wanda Wyatt, in the chair. The meeting was called to elect debaters for the senior-junior debate, which is to take place on Wednesday, November 24th. Miss Vera Adams and Miss Marjorie Fletcher were chosen. Miss J. Pattee was appointed representative to the poster committee.

Things Theatrical

Olive Templeton and William Sullivan were enthusiastically received by a well-filled house at His Majesty's Theatre last night in their initial appearance as leaders of Manager Driscoll's Permanent Players' Company. The bill, Roi Cooper Megrue's dramatic and emotional play, "Under Cover," was a happy selection for such an introduction. It afforded ample scope in its constant appeal to self-sacrificing love to give Miss Templeton a direct entrance to the hearts and sympathy of her audience, and the skill with which she used her opportunity augurs well for the popularity of that artist in the weeks to come.

A sweet, simple personality, well-supported by artistic ability, was what Miss Templeton brought to the Montreal public, and their appreciation was amply manifest in their spontaneous response. Mr. Sullivan shared in the triumph, for his performance last night was consistently strong. He has a well-built body, commanding appearance, and a full resonant voice, all of which were but tools of a mind that showed itself capable of true artistic expression. His role as lover and secret service officer combined demanded self-possession and an artistic handling of difficult situations that would have taxed a less capable mind to give that blending of love and duty which was necessary to make his role attractive. He did so, and that in itself in his triumph.

The plot is concerned with the fortunes of Mabel Cartwright, whose sister Amy has laid herself open to punishment by law through a "fake" burglary. Mabel, to save her sister, consents to help Taylor, the customs officer of New York harbor, to "land" a smuggler of a twenty thousand dollar necklace. The smuggler proves to be the mysterious "R. J.," a man higher up in the secret service department, who traps Taylor, a grifter himself, and the couple are found happy and united when the clouds have rolled away.

THE GAYETY.

Bob Manchester's Burlesquers is the offering at the Gayety this week. It comes somewhat as a relief to see a show of this calibre after the usual run of burlesque attractions. The first part of act number one is called "The Lawn Dansant." The action is supposed to take part on the lawn of some fashionable resort, although the main items of entertainment seem to be a "souse" scene, taking place between a "lady" worker of the temperance union and a confirmed drunkard. The expected end arrives when both become oiled up in great shape to the great delight of the audience. The rest of the act is taken up by Beatrice Harlowe, a soubrette with a rubber face, who gives a farcical speech on women's rights.

The next part of the bill is headed vaudeville, and it is opened by Billy Harle and His Chorus Girls. This is a fairly good skit on the methods used by a side show "barker" in a circus. The next act is the head-line attraction of the evening, and it certainly lives up to its press notices, the act being Mollie Williams and company in "Le Dance L'Enticement." Mollie is really a very good dancer, when one takes into consideration her buxom build. This act is followed by Beatrice Harlowe, comedienne, who gives a fairly good imitation of an English music hall singer. She also tells some good jokes, both new and old. The final act is billed as the Curzon sisters, "Original Plying Butterflies." These two sisters give a good exhibition of hanging by the teeth and swinging around the stage on an aerial contrivance.

The second act is entitled Daffydill's "A Brainstorm Carnival," and it certainly deserves its name. These friends are supposed to be recuperating in a hospital from the after-effects of married life. The doctor of the hospital invents some wonderful tablets which will change a man into a woman and vice-versa. This invention causes some very funny situations after these gentlemen and some lady friends had partaken of them. Mollie Williams gives during the course of the act an "imitation" of Anna Held, but it would seem that the same Mollie had best content herself to numbers within the scope of her powers. She, however, redeems herself with the rendering of several popular songs, and she made the individual hit of the show. On the whole, it may easily be said that this week's attraction at the Gayety is far the best offering that the St. Urban street theatre has shown this season, and any one who sees the show may rest assured that he will receive his full money's worth.

THE IMPERIAL.

Emily Stevens in "Cora," the third Metro film play, now being shown at the Imperial, is a picture that abounds in realistic and thrilling moments. The story is well adapted for the screen, and no expense has been spared to portray the smallest detail. There are several scenes in which Miss Stevens is called upon to exert her great ability as an emotional actress, and she is not found wanting. The automobile wreck is a tremendous scene, and held the audience spellbound as the automobile dashes over the cliff and falls 100 feet below. Miss Stevens is a finished actress, and no doubt will soon be as great a film favorite as a stage one.

Pathe News of topical events, a beautiful scenic picture of ancient Venice, and a war picture of the Italian troops before Metzeral, a very striking picture which shows actual engagement, shell bursting and mountain batteries in action.

The vocalists this week are Mr. Jonais, baritone, with a repertoire of songs, which are very pleasing and well sung; Miss Maloney, a local soprano, in excellent voice, who delighted her audience immensely.

While the bill for the first half of the week is all one could desire, "The Island of Regeneration" for the last three days promises to be one of the greatest film plays ever produced, as Rev. Cyrus Townsend Brady never wrote a more absorbing book than his "Island of Regeneration." And there was never a story written by any one that offered greater possibilities to film-drama. R.V.C. '16

A meeting of R. V. C. '16 was held yesterday, with the president, Miss Mabel Corner, in the chair. The first business brought up was the choosing of an hour for the class photograph to be taken. The hour found most suitable to the majority of the class was half-past one on Wednesday, November 3. Then followed the election of debaters for the senior-junior debate. Miss M. Currie and Miss M. Cameron were chosen by acclamation. The meeting then adjourned.

THE LONDON.

For the first three days of the week at the London, the management has obtained a slum romance as a feature. It is entitled, "The Millionaire Paupers," and is a three-reel society drama. On Thursday and Friday, "The Man Who Stayed at Home" or "The White Feather" will be the chief drawing card. Besides a one-reel subject, "The Flag of Fortune," a movie romance in two parts, will also be screened. In the run of things is to be found a real "heart interest" drama with Murdoch McQuarrie and Edna Payne in an "inside" story of University City.

For the first three days of the week Charles Chaplin appears in "Getting Acquainted," a side-splitting and uproarious comedy. For Thursday and Friday "Mabel's Predicament" will be shown.

For the balance of the week Charlie Chaplin appears in "The Face Upon the Barroom Floor." No doubt everybody who has attended theatres in the past has seen this well-known play, or at one time or other has read the story, and here we are at last getting this old standby in pictures, where more attention is to detail and general matters are given to it than from the play standpoint.

NEWS OF THE STUDENT SOLDIERS

LIEUT. LEITCH ONLY CANADIAN WITH SERBIANS

Dalhousie and Oxford Graduate Tells of His Experiences in War Zone.

WAS BURIED BY SHELL

Says Serbia Will Never Share the Fate of Belgium—Women in the Ranks.

Yesterday a Daily representative had the pleasure of interviewing the only Canadian who fought with the Serbian army during last year's eventful campaign. Lieut. R. S. Leitch, of the Divisional Artillery staff, who has been home in Canada for the last two months on leave of absence, sails this week for Europe. He will visit the Allies' lines in Belgium before re-joining the Serbian army.

Lieut. Leitch saw service during all of last winter's trying campaign, and went through the great Serbian drive of the Austrian forces at the battle of Sunabor. In a later engagement he was injured by his horse and returned to Canada to recuperate.

The lieutenant wore the Serbian uniform, a khaki garb, which much resembles our own troops. The two most striking differences are the round cap with glazed peak, bearing the personal insignia of King Peter, and the heavy sword, which is worn by all officers, and is kept sharpened to a razor-like keenness.

"Real Warfare."

Mr. Leitch is a professor of English literature, and has studied at Dalhousie and Oxford. When the war broke out he threw up a position and hastened back to England, intending to enlist with the King's Colonials. While in London, however, he changed his mind, and decided to go to Serbia, where, to use his own words, "I could be sure of getting into real warfare." After the adventurous voyage, he reached Serbia, secured a commission, acquired a speaking knowledge of the Serbian language, and was in a short time promoted to the Divisional Artillery staff. During his term of active service he had many narrow escapes from death. On one occasion he was buried under earth thrown up by the explosion of a trench bomb, and was dug out just in time. On another occasion shrapnel tore away the left epaulette of his great coat. When asked what were his feelings when for the first time under shell fire, he replied by saying that for the first few moments he was in mortal terror till he noticed how his companion, a colonel, treated the whole matter as a joke. After the first terror had gone, he rapidly became used to the experience.

The Irish of the Balkans.

Mr. Leitch has a great admiration for the Serbian people. In his own words, "the Serbs are the Irish of the Balkans—big-hearted and lovable, yet excitable and generally ready for trouble. They are intensely loyal and courageous to the point of recklessness. Their treatment of strangers is proverbially kind, and they display a rugged force of character and initiative even in the lowest ranks. The discipline of the men is splendid, and yet there is a spirit of independence that the military system can hardly restrain."

The lieutenant's impressions of Serbia are very different, however. When asked as to the state of the roads, he replied briefly: "There are none. The best you can call them is switchbacks of levelled mud." Mud is the keynote of the Serbian landscape. The towns are no improvement on the country. Sanitation is, particularly in these days, a thing unknown. Foreign hospitals have helped matters somewhat, but even now the condition of affairs in Serbia villages is simply indescribable.

The sufferings of the Serbian people are very great. Plague and famine have laid waste the country, and the state, hemmed in by foes on all sides and struggling for its very existence, is unable to help its own citizens.

Women in Ranks.

When asked what he thought of Serbia's future, Mr. Leitch said: "I cannot say as much as I would like about affairs in Serbia. But I can tell you this: Things may look black for Serbia, but she will never share the fate of Belgium. I myself have seen women and children in the ranks, and before Germany and her Allies can conquer and possess Serbia, the last drop of her citizens' blood will have to be shed."

It is Mr. Leitch's opinion that the voluntary system of recruiting is breaking down under the strain. He looks for conscription in Britain before very long, and it is his belief that conscription is the only sane way of raising men in a time such as this.

"The universities," he said, "must realize their duty to the Empire. Oxford and Cambridge have given 90 per cent. of their students, and both universities are closed. It is the duty of every university man to fit himself for a commission and be prepared to take his place among the defenders of the Empire."

Mr. Leitch during his stay in Canada has been engaged in writing a volume on the history and characteristics of the Serbian. He has also made an extensive study of the folk and war-songs of the peasants and soldiers, and hopes if he returns to publish a full account of his experiences as the only Canadian soldier with the Serbian force.

BUSTER REID WOUNDED FOR SECOND TIME

Rose From the Ranks to Receive Commission in Overseas Forces.

LIEUT. DUGGAN'S DEATH

Graduate of '12 Distinguished Himself Before Receiving Death Wound.

Wounded for the second time since he crossed to France with reinforcements for the First Canadian Division, Lieut. George E. Reid, Arts '15, better known around college as "Buster," is included in a recent casualty list. "Buster" is well known to followers of Canadian rugby as a member of the champion McGill rugby team of 1913. He was serving with the 3rd Battalion.

Lieut. Reid enlisted before the close of the rugby season last year as a private in the 23rd Westmount Rifles of the Second Canadian Division. Only a few days passed before he was promoted to the rank of lance-corporal, and from this post he rapidly moved through the grades of corporal, sergeant, quartermaster-sergeant and company sergeant-major, until he received a commission just before the unit sailed to England in February last.

Not long after the 23rd Battalion reached England, the call came for reinforcements for the First Canadian Division, and "Buster" went across in charge of a body of men from the Battalion. Early in the summer he was wounded, and now for the second time he has been rendered unfit for service. A cable to Lieut. Reid's father, George M. Reid, of London, Ont., states that "Buster's" wounds are only slight.

Details of how Lieut. Herrick S. Duggan, Sci. '12, of the Royal Engineers, met his death in Flanders, have been received in Montreal in a cable from Captain Hamilton, of the 70th Company, Royal Engineers, to which Lieut. Duggan was attached. Craig Hamilton states that Lieut. Duggan died from shrapnel wounds at 4 o'clock on the morning of the 21st of October, "received while going out to see a fallen officer during the capture of a German trench. He received slight bullet wounds early in the same night in the neck when leading a bomb attack, but afterwards continued work, and distinguished himself throughout with the greatest coolness and devotion to duty. He lies buried at Bethune."

Graham F. Towers, Arts '17; G. R. Caverhill, Arts '17, and E. A. Lovett, Law '16, are attending the School of Instruction of the Army Service Corps at Quebec. There are 32 would-be officers in training. Lieut. W. H. Biggar, Arts '17, is adjutant of the school and an instructor.

Sergt.-Major Werry, Law '18, of the Fourth Overseas Company and the McGill C.O.T.C., left last night for the Provisional Officers' Training School at Three Rivers, where he will instruct and train officers for the Canadian Militia and Expeditionary Forces.

W. Vaughan, Bursar of the University, has received the following letters from men at the front in acknowledgment of tobacco gifts:

Flanders, Friday, Oct. 8, 1915.
Dear Mr. Vaughan,—
Recently in an issue of cigarettes, I found this card and thought I would send it to you to express my thanks to you. Cigarettes are greatly appreciated here, especially when sent from friends at home.

This card has become very dirty and muddy, but it certainly is no worse than Belgium itself.

This was to have been my fourth year, but I guess it is all up now. I'll graduate probably about 20, but there will be many in the same box. There are many McGill boys here, especially with the Second Division; not so many with us in the First.

Many thanks once again for cigarettes.

Very sincerely yours,
FRED. C. DONALD, '16.

France, Sept. 10, 1915.

Dear Sir,—
Your tobacco fell into the hands of some of the members of the First Universities Company now with the P. P. C. L. I. It is being deeply appreciated just at the moment. Gifts such as yours no doubt have helped to keep the regiment in the excellent health it now enjoys.

HUT FOR THE Y.M.C.A.

Montreal Gentleman Gives $200 Towards Active Service Branch.

Thanks to the generosity of a Montreal gentleman, who does not wish to make known his identity, the active service branch of the McGill Y.M.C.A. at the front is likely to be soon comfortably housed in a hut which will take the place of the marquee at present in use.

Yesterday afternoon Wilbur C. Lowry, Med. '15, and A. L. Richards, Arts '18, who are assisting in the work of the branch, cabled to E. A. Corbett, general secretary of the association, stating that Col. H. S. Birkett had offered to bear a part of the cost of the erection of a hut for the Y.M.C.A., and that the share of the Y.M.C.A. would amount to $400. Before last evening Mr. Corbett had secured an offer of $200 from a Montreal business man towards the work, provided an additional $200 was raised.

WHOLE COLLEGE OF THEOLOGS. FOR THE FRONT

Fifth Universities Co. Likely to Have Platoon of Anglican Theological Students

SGT.-MAJ. WERRY LEAVES

Well-Known Instructor Goes to Three Rivers Officers' Instruction Camp.

The Fourth Universities Overseas Company is working very hard at present, so as to be in good training by the time they are sent to England, which will occur in the next two or three weeks. Sergt.-Major Werry, who left yesterday for the Three Rivers officers' instruction camp, has been almost indispensable to the unit, and officers and men alike will miss him exceedingly, for it will be hard to find as good a man to fill the position he has left vacant.

Yesterday morning the company marched to the back of the Westmount Mountain, where extended order manoeuvres were practised. The theory was that numbers one and two platoons were attacking numbers three and four, who formed a general rear guard action. This was carried off very successfully, and the company then marched home.

Early in the morning a party of 25 left for the Pointe aux Trembles ranges, where they shot at both the 200 and 500-yard ranges. In the afternoon the company was split up into several parties, each of which were busied with different occupations.

Lieut. Traquair, of the 5th Royal Highlanders, instructed a squad in bayonet fighting, while another detachment was given tuition in signalling by Lieut. J. E. Hoare, of the C.O.T.C. The machine gun section was given drill by Lieut. Higgins, of the Fourth Universities Company, while a party left for the C. P. R. gallery ranges for indoor shooting. The non-commissioned officers' examination was also carried on, and upon the result of this examination will depend the appointments of the N. C. O.'s for the Fourth Universities Company.

Fired by the story of the official murder of Miss Edith Cavell, the British nurse, and roused to action by the stirring appeal made by His Majesty the King to his loyal subjects throughout the Empire, the students of Emmanuel College, University of Saskatchewan, have determined to enlist, practically as a body, for overseas service with the Universities Company.

Every since the announcement was made in the newspapers that the brave English nurse had been shot down by German orders, the undergraduates of the Anglican College of the western university of Saskatchewan had been deeply moved, and a few days later the entire 33 students in the college had volunteered. In a telegram to these men Capt. Eve suggested that if they wished they could form a special platoon in the Fifth Company under their own officer and N. C. O.'s. The remainder of the platoon will be made up of students of St. Chad's Anglican College, Regina, who have also come forward and a few of whom are already in the Universities barracks. All theological students have decided that it is better to fight for king, country and church, than to continue their studies, for, as one remarked: "I have come to the decision that the time has arrived to come forward for the church's sake, for if Germany is victorious, there will be no church." So the Fifth Company will most likely possess a whole platoon composed solely of Anglican theological students.

Official news is expected shortly in regard to the authorization of a fifth company of overseas universities men. Several more are already in the Sherbrooke street barracks awaiting the formation of this unit, which will start recruiting as soon as official sanction arrives and the Fourth Company leaves.

EXCELLENT DRILL FOR "B" COMPANY

Full Company Worked for Three Hours on Champ de Mars.

If "B" Company of the C.O.T.C. is not the best drilled and best organized in the Battalion, it will not be the fault of the officers or the men. Last Friday evening the men got an excellent lecture from Mr. Mann on court-martial and on discipline. Then on Saturday afternoon the company paraded at the Old High School, where, owing to the state of the weather, the men were marched down to the Champ de Mars. For three solid hours the men were put through the different stages of company drill by Captain Heward. Nor did the grind finish until the men were working smoothly together. "B" Company is now the largest company in the Battalion, and it intends to have the reputation of being the smartest and best drilled besides.

HOSPITAL ARRIVES SAFELY.

Toronto, Nov. 2.—A cable was received from Brigadier-General Roberts by Mrs. Roberts yesterday, stating that the University of Toronto base hospital had arrived safely in Alexandria.

UNVEIL TABLET IN MEMORY OF MCGILL GRAD.

Gunner Allan I. Richardson, Sci. '11, Was Killed at Second Battle of Ypres.

OFFICERS WERE PRESENT

Tablet Was Unveiled by Brigadier-General E. W. Wilson, O.C. Division.

A tablet in memory of Gunner Allan Irving Richardson, Sci. '11, who met his death in the second battle of Ypres, was unveiled on Sunday in the Church of St. James the Apostle with appropriate ceremony. A tablet in memory of Major J. N. Warminton was unveiled at the same time.

The service for the unveiling of these tablets was conducted by the Lord Bishop of Montreal, assisted by the Chancellor of the Diocese, Dr. Davidson, Rev. F. Elliott Baker, acting rector of the church, and other clergy. The unveiling was performed by officers of the garrison, while amongst the congregation were several soldiers who had accompanied the dead officer and man to the front and suffered with them, some of them being still hardly able to walk without assistance.

The actual unveiling—when the Union Jack was removed from each tablet—was performed by two brigadier-generals. The memorial to Major Warminton, which was presented by Mrs. Warminton, was unveiled by Brigadier-General F. S. Meighen, Arts '89, who commanded his battalion at the front; that to Gunner Richardson was unveiled by Brigadier-General E. W. Wilson, C.O.C., 4th Division.

After the singing of the Benedictus, the Lord Bishop, escorted by the chancellor of the diocese and the other clergy, proceeded to the chancel screen, on either side of which the two tablets were resting, swathed in Union Jacks.

Four officers, two from each of the old military units of the dead soldiers, were called forward, and stood guard during the ceremony, while Brigadier-General Wilson took place beside the tablet to Major Warminton, and Brigadier-General Meighen beside the tablet to Gunner Richardson.

The special service was very brief, a few prayers, indicative of the service soldiers are fighting for in the cause of God and country, after which came the invocation, when Bishop Farthing formally dedicated each tablet to the honor of God and the memory of the fallen soldier, during which the shrouding flag was lifted.

The tablet to Gunner Richardson was inscribed as follows:

"In memory of Allan Irving Richardson, gunner, 5th Battery, 2nd Brigade, Canadian Field Artillery. Born at Ingersoll, Ont., 5th May 1891. Killed near St. Jean at the second battle of Ypres, 29th April, 1915.

"Thou shalt show me the path of life; in Thy presence is the fullness of joy, and at Thy right hand there is pleasure for ever more."

H. J. MACLEOD IN CHARGE OF C.O.T.C.

Officers' Class of University of Alberta Has Splendid Record.

It will be of interest to the members of the C.O.T.C. to learn something about one of its former members, to whom a great deal of credit may be given for its organization. H. J. MacLeod was a member of the Science '14 class, graduating with the highest honors in electrical engineering, besides winning a prize for the best essay written in his year.

Not only being one of the first to join, but he was highly responsible for the organization of the C.O.T.C., to which he brought honor by taking the highest standing out of eighteen who tried for their commissions.

As a result of his scholastic record at McGill, he received an appointment at the University of Alberta as head professor of the electrical department in engineering. Although this department was opened last year for the first time under his direction, he now has one of the biggest classes in the university.

At the opening of last year's session he organized the C.O.T.C. and became commander. Not long after he was made captain. For two months during the past summer he was in Sarcee camp, near Calgary, attached to the 51st Battalion.

This year Mac is again back at Edmonton pursuing the work of his previous year, where he has made military teaching so popular that nearly every student in the university is attached to the C.O.T.C. Twenty per cent. of those who took up the work last year qualified for their commissions.

HAD A NARROW ESCAPE

Shell Strikes Dugout But Its Three Occupants Escape Uninjured.

Pte. J. G. Copeland, No. 6 Field Ambulance, Arts '16, writes as follows to E. A. Corbett, general secretary of the McGill Y.M.C.A.:

"I wrote you a card some time ago with the promise that I would follow it with a letter whenever I got the chance. Well, I have lots of time to-day, because I am on guard, and my next relief does not come till 8 o'clock to-night. We run the shifts in this way: 4 hours on and 8 hours off.

Just at present we are having a rather quiet time of it here at the dressing station doing fatigues and guards. At least, it seems rather quiet and uninteresting in comparison to the way we were in close proximity to the trenches. You see, we are relieving here an Imperial Field Ambulance, and they were using a dugout as an advance bearer station about a mile from the first line trenches. After we arrived here, about a half hour after our section was told to fall in, I was lucky enough to be one of the dozen or so who were told off from it for duty up there. We were overjoyed at the thought of getting into the real work. Bob Hall and Corp. Struthers were with us, and we had a nice jolly lot of boys. This dug-out to which we went is in size about 20 ft. x 8 ft., and is protected on top and on the sides by sand bags. We made it quite comfortable, and actually ate from a table, and at night slept on stretchers. One of the boys happens to be a fine cook and thus we fed like kings. We were able to buy things from the people. These people, by the way, go about their business in the usual way. If a shell blows the end off their house, they simply move to the other end, or if it is too badly smashed up, they go out and move into an unoccupied house.

"Each night a squad or two of bearers would go up to the reserve trenches to bring out any wounded or sick. This is the closest I have been to the enemy. However, one does not need to be in the trenches to be in danger. We experienced this at our dug-out the day after we had got there. The enemy, I guess, were trying to find the range of some of our guns, and in doing so they shelled our dug-out and its immediate vicinity. It was a real lively time of it that we had for a while. One shell blew the corner off

SCIENCE TEAM PREPARE FOR FACULTY GAME

Men Who Have Played 50% of the Total Halves on Their Class Team Eligible.

PRACTICE THURSDAY

Up to Every Man to Turn Out and Help Land the Inter-Faculty Championship.

Now that the inter-class football series is nearing a close all attention is being turned to the inter-faculty series. There are to be two inter-faculty games played. The first between Arts and Medicine, and the second between the winners of the first game and the Science team. The Science men on paper look to have the best chance, but you can never tell. At any rate the Science men are not resting on their reputations, but are going ahead arranging practices and getting all their men out. Every man who has played 50% of total number of halves in which his class team participated is eligible to turn out. It is necessary that the captains of each class team send in a list of all eligible men to the manager, Herb Woolatt. Pep, Paisley has been elected coach and it will be up to him to pick the team. He himself will be unable to play as he played for M.A.A.A. on Saturday, and is thus ineligible. "Pep" has been coaching M.A.A.A. this fall so he will be well able to pick the best team possible from the four years. Although Science '16 have won the championship of the Faculty it does not necessarily mean that the Faculty team shall all be '16 men. Everybody in all four years has a chance, and it

GOOD PRACTICE OF THE HARRIER CLUB

Eight Men Turned Out and All Showed Rare Form Over 2 1/2 Mile Course.

A practice run of the McGill Harriers took place yesterday. The course covered was about 2 1/2 miles, and a stiff pace was maintained throughout. Eight men took part: Antliff, Macklin, Skinner, Gowdall, Walsh, Wickenden, Kert and MacDermott. Antliff ran his usual fine race, while the others also showed good form. In all fifteen men have attended practices this season, and good material for the coming inter-faculty run is assured. Another practice will be held next Wednesday.

The club is receiving splendid support and prospects are consequently the best for the big event which will take place, it is thought, in about ten days. is up to every man to turn out and try his best for the team. Even if he doesn't make the team he will have the satisfaction of knowing he helped by turning out and enabling good practice games to be played. There seems to be an opinion about, amongst some of the men that there is no one trying to make the team because some men, who have formerly played senior football, is trying for the same position. Nobody knows what he can do until he tries, and no account of past work is to be taken so everybody has an equal chance. Practices will begin on Thursday. Further notice will be given out later.

WATER POLO TEAM TO HOLD PRACTICE

Practice To-night in Y.M.C.A. Tank and Game on Wednesday With M.A.A.A.

There will be a practice of the intermediate water polo team this afternoon, at 5 o'clock, in the Y.M.C.A. tank, Drummond street. It is necessary that everybody should turn out and if there are any new men who have not been out as yet now is the time to begin. A goalkeeper is especially needed as McGregor, the regular goalkeeper is now ineligible to play with the team because he played in the senior game last week. The practices so far have been very poorly attended, and barely enough men to form a team have been turning out. If things don't begin to look up and more men turn out to-night the team will drop out of the league. There is a game scheduled for Wednesday night with M.A.A.A. and it will need considerable practice to put up any sort of a game against them as they are conceded to be the pick of the league. The following men are especially requested to turn out: Ed. Clark, H. C. Butterfield, C. A. Marlett, A. E. Beckwith, W. C. Sullivan, S. Schachter.

R.V.C. TENNIS CLUB

Schedule of Matches to be Played on Wednesday, November 3rd.

The following matches are to be played off on Wednesday, November 3rd, at 6 p.m.
Miss F. Kilgour vs. Miss W. Wright.
Miss B. Abbot vs. Miss M. Spier.
Miss W. Wyatt vs. Miss E. Holland.
Miss M. Muir vs. Miss A. Younger.
Miss G. Innis vs. Miss L. Wilder.

THE SOCCER CLUB.

There will be a practice of the Soccer Club this afternoon at 4 p.m. It is necessary that everybody should turn out, as this is the only day in the week that the club has practice hours.

A BULLETIN OF WHAT IS GOING ON AT OTTAWA

The Debating Society is Forced to Discontinue Activities Temporarily.

CADET CORPS POSSIBLE

Good Football is Displayed by Teams of Inter-Mural Schedule.

Ottawa, November 2.—(Special).—A meeting of the University of Ottawa Debating Society was held during the past week, at which R. J. O'Reilly presided. A vote of the executive was taken and it was necessary for the chairman to cast his vote in favor of discontinuing it for the present year. The vote was: For—J. Grace, B. Unger and W. Hayden; against—S. Hayden, R. Quinn and V. O'Neill.

A very up-to-date gymnasium is being installed in the University and it is expected to have all the apparatus in within a week's time.

The three teams in the inter-mural football league are putting up a very good brand of football.

A McLaughlin recently returned from the Ste. Augustine Seminary to finish out his course at Ottawa University.

Many former students will be surprised to hear that Harry Charlton, Matric '13, has lately jumped into the matrimonial sea.

There will only be inter-mural hockey at O. U. this year, as all last year's good material is scattered; Messrs. Quinn, Nagle and Grimes being the only ones in town. Quinn is the only one of the three attending the University.

There will be the same number of rinks as last year and there is a chance of some good material being worked up for next year.

There is talk of forming a cadet corps at the University, but no definite arrangements have been made yet. Father Turcotte is trying to arrange this.

H. L. O'REILLY.

CRICKETERS HOLD SMOKER.

A successful smoker was held on Saturday evening by the members of the Westmount Cricket Club, when a number of prizes and trophies won during the season were presented. Dean Moyle, of the Faculty of Arts, who has just returned from a trip to the Old Country, spoke during the evening and declared that it was the duty of every cricketer to take a hand in the big war game.

AN ENJOYABLE EVENING FOR THE HALL MEN

sociation nor Daily were then in existence. The reason why McGill had received money so generously from outsiders was because the students and graduates lived useful lives in the community. Our training here should be such as to make us useful to those among whom we live, and we should at all times remember this. Dr. Tees said he hoped the time would soon come when the dormitories would play the important part of college life which they should do. Frank Common rendered in his usual style two very entertaining piano monologues. In one he described the proper method—in his opinion—of educating a child. This is by moving picture shows in the afternoon. The other monologue was a "sad" story of how a very dear friend had been received when arriving home early in the morning after being "out with the boys."

George Dick then sang in a superb style "Flow Gently, Sweet Avoon." As an encore, "At Home Among the Ain Folk," was, if possible, more splendidly given than the first. The toast of "Our Boys at the Front" was ably responded to by H. B. Church. He brought attention to the fact that many new faces were to be seen in the places of the old ones now at the front. Those who have gone are not merely soldiers, for this means men who in time of peace join the army for work. Our student-soldiers have left their homes and places of comfort and luxury after a well-thought-out and deliberate act to take their places at the front.

In rendering a classical selection, J. J. Naher showed himself to be a master of the keyboard. Selections from modern operas and popular songs were played as encores.

F. E. Gullison, in proposing the toast to the "New Residents," outlined the object for which the Hall was erected, and welcomed the men to Strathcona Hall. I. W. Beverly responded in a few well-chosen remarks, stating the pleasure it gave all new-comers to be so welcomed by the older members.

The executing of "The Serenade," by Gounod, was done in such a feeling manner that it called forth as an encore "Melody in F" by Rubenstein. Clarence Pitts proposed "The Ladies," with many amusing fairy stories. Responding to this Allan Bone said he thought he should be a lady to properly deal with the subject. He preferred the term "woman," for in his estimation this term when rightly applied took in all we thought about when we had a toast of this kind in mind.

The singing of "God Save the King," followed by the McGill yell, completed the evening's enjoyment.

PROMINENT MEN IN ATHLETICS ARE SUSPENDED

Athletic Association Takes Drastic Step and Suspends Men Who Contravene Rules.

ATHLETIC CARDS

Paisley, Hughes, Donnelly and Other Well-Known Men Are Amongst the Number.

An important and unusually eventful meeting of the Athletic Association was held yesterday. A great deal of business was dealt with, and some very necessary steps taken towards dealing with the negligence of students in complying with the university athletic rules.

Mr. Woolatt's report on the meeting of the C.I.A.U., held in Toronto on Wednesday, Oct. 20, was first heard. Next, the action of the president in sanctioning a football game between Arts '18 and Macdonald College, to be played on the latter's grounds, was ratified.

Applications were read from G. D. Scott, Sci. '18; H. C. Laurie, Arts '19, and H. C. Lee, Arts '17, asking permission to play football with outside teams. This permission was granted these three men.

Permission was also granted the tennis club to play a practice match with the Central Y.M.C.A. on Saturday, Nov. 6. The main business of the meeting was then entered upon. The students have been getting more and more lax in complying with the university athletic regulations, and this in spite of the fact that these regulations have been printed in the handbooks and in the book of constitutions; have, further, been posted in practically every building connected with the university (not to mention the sign-boards), and finally have been quoted and commented upon in The Daily Time after time. These rules, and especially those which so many students find so troublesome, are few and simple in the extreme. In the main, they can be stated in two sentences:

First, no student shall represent any outside organization unless sanctioned by the Athletic Association and the athletics committee of the corporation. Second, no student shall take part in any athletic contest, whether representing McGill or an outside organization, unless he has passed a physical examination conducted by the college medical authorities.

Any student who reads, digests and complies with these two clauses will trouble the physical examination naturally be repeated each year. Many a man has developed serious illness in less time than that offered by the five-month summer session. Every chance is seized to impress upon students the necessity of obeying these college rules, but it invariably happens that some, either through ignorance, carelessness or other causes, overlook them. In doing so they automatically suspend themselves indefinitely from all college athletics. The Athletic Association merely takes the final step in declaring them suspended, though it is through the Athletic Association only that they can be reinstated.

A number of students have neglected to comply with the regulations, several of whom should most certainly have known better. The case of three medical students—A. H. Greenwood and J. P. Fawcett, Med. '18, and J. P. Gilhooley, Med. '20, who have received sanction to play with the M.A.A.A. football team, neglected to pass the physical examination. They were suspended, and will be unable to partake in any form of college athletics until reinstated.

The following men were also suspended for playing class football without, or before, being examined:
B. Benjamin, Arts '17.
W. M. Mazur, Arts '17.
A. K. Viner, Arts '17.
M. H. Myerson, Arts '16.
G. B. MacLarty, Sci. '19.
M. L. Walker, Sci. '19.
H. N. Watt, Sci. '19.
I. W. Beverly, Sci. '17.
A. Clark, Sci. '17.
H. Lipsey, Arts '19.
H. D. Butterfield, Arts '18.
R. W. Herring, Arts '18.
W. B. Campbell, Med. '18.

A number of men in Med. '20 were also suspended, but their names were not to hand in time for this issue; they will appear in to-morrow's number. A number of men, among them some of McGill's most prominent footballers, have played on outside teams without asking or receiving the sanction of the Athletic Association. For this there can be little excuse, especially for those upper class men whose experience should have taught them better. The following men have been suspended for this reason:
J. M. Donnelly, Med. '16.
J. E. H. (Pep) Paisley, Sci. '16.
W. P. Hughes, Law '18.
G. F. Carroll, Sci. '17.
T. J. J. Fox, Sci. '18.
M. I. Sigler, Arts '16.
H. H. L. Casselman, Med. '20.
P. Abinowitz, Law '18.

The attitude of the Athletic Association in taking such action on so many men is not that of desiring to disqualify students merely because they have or have not done such and such a thing. But there are certain college rules which must be complied with, and the students must realize that those not complying must take the consequences.

There has been great difficulty this year in obtaining the athletic cards from team managers. The cards state that the line-up of any competing team must be filled in on the card and handed in to the president of the Athletic Association at least one day before the

ARTS AND SCIENCE MANAGERS ELECTED

Football Managers and Coaches Elected to Pick the Faculty Teams.

An unconstitutional meeting of the Arts Undergraduate Society took place yesterday in room 105 of the Arts Building. It was called for the purpose of electing officers for the football team to represent the Arts Faculty in the coming inter-faculty series. Those elected were: Captain, W. R. Henry; manager, J. B. Rutherford; assistant manager, M. McCrimmon. C. R. Mackenzie, the president of the society, in a few words, emphasized the necessity for united effort, and spoke of the team's good chances. Before adjourning, the subject of the pending Y.M.C.A. financial campaign was briefly discussed by the president, who drew attention to the duty of the students to give it full support. The meeting was then adjourned.

At a meeting of the Science Undergraduates' Society held yesterday afternoon, the following officers for the Science football team were elected: Coach, "Pep" Paisley; manager, "Herb" Woolatt. On these men devolves the work of picking and training the team which is to represent Science in the coming inter-faculty series.

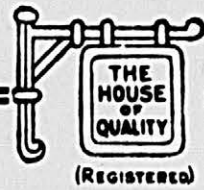

CERCLE FRANCAISE

Members of Executive Asked to be on Hand at Rembrandt Studio.

Arrangements have been made whereby the photo of the executive will be taken at 1 p.m. to-day, at the Rembrandt Studios, King's Hall Building, St. Catherine West, near Drummond.

The following constitute the officials as elected at the first meeting held in the Union a week ago to-night: Hon. President, Dr. Villard; President, A. M. Terroux, Arts '18; Vice-President, P. Brals, Arts '17; Secretary, C. Chazened, Arts '16; Cor. Secretary, V. S. Green, Arts '18; Treasurer, J. B. Rutherford, Arts '18; Representatives, A. B. Hawthorne, Arts '19, and V. Simmonds, Arts '19.

competition takes place. Any team omitting to do this is liable to forfeit the game to their opponents should the Athletic Association so rule. This happened at least once last year, and history repeats itself. This is the manager's business, and he should see to it. Finally, if any of the men whose names are above as being suspended can offer good reasons why they should never have been suspended, they need only convince the president and executive of the Athletic Association to obtain reinstatement.

The Royal Military College of Canada

THERE are few national institutions of more value and interest to the country than the Royal Military College of Canada. Notwithstanding this, its object and the work it accomplishes are not sufficiently understood by the general public.

The College is a Government Institution, designed primarily for the purpose of giving instruction in all branches of military science to Cadets and Officers of the Canadian Militia. In fact it corresponds to Woolwich and Sandhurst.

The Commandant and military instructors are all officers on the active list of the Imperial army, lent for the purpose, and there is in addition a complete staff of professors for the civil subjects which form such an important part of the College course. Medical attendance is also provided.

Whilst the College is organized on a strictly military basis the cadets receive a practical and scientific training in subjects essential to a sound modern education.

The course includes a thorough grounding in Mathematics, Civil Engineering, Surveying, Physics, Chemistry, French and English.

The strict discipline maintained at the College is one of the most valuable features of the course, and in the constant practice of gymnastics, drills and outdoor exercises of all kinds ensures health and excellent physical condition.

Commissioners in all branches of the Imperial service and Canadian Permanent Force are offered annually.

The diploma of graduation is considered by the authorities conducting the examination for Dominion Land Surveyor to be equivalent to a university degree, and by the Regulations of the Law Society of Ontario, it obtains the same exemptions as a B.A. degree.

The length of the course is three years, in three terms of 9 1/2 months each.

The total cost of the course, including board, uniform, instructional material, and all extras is about $800.

The annual competitive examination for admission to the College, takes place in May of each year, at the headquarters of the several military divisions and districts. For full particulars regarding this examination and for any other information, application should be made to the secretary of the Militia Council, Ottawa, Ont., or to the Commandant, Royal Military College Kingston, Ont.
